EMPOWER YOURSELF TO MAKE BETTER FINANCIAL DECISIONS

One in five people have an error on at least one of their credit reports according to a study conducted by the Federal Trade Commission. When is the last time you checked your free credit report?

Credit reports affect many aspects of your life, including your ability to get a loan, rates for loans and insurance, and more. Sign up today for K-State Research and Extensions' Check Your Credit email program.

We'll remind you to check your credit report three times during the year on February 2, June 6, and October 10. We will also send you periodic emails with information about how to understand your credit report, correct errors, and use your credit report to your advantage.

There is no cost to participate and registration is easy!

Take a step towards financial well-being today by signing up for K-State Research and Extension's Check Your Credit email program at bit.ly/ksrecheckyourcredit. Contact your local K-State Research and Extension Office for more information.
